

Enforcing Climate Policy: A Transdisciplinary Approach (Building Networks of Practice)

26 May 2023, 9:30 AM

Palazzina Valitutti, Aula B
Piazza Spitellica 3, 06126 Perugia, Italy

Zoom link: <https://une-au.zoom.us/j/83543693478?pwd=M1BINzdNMDg3VEJCOGh2Qlmb3lwQT09>

Registration: <https://www.eventbrite.com.au/e/climate-policy-a-transdisciplinary-approach-tickets-604092114777>

PANEL 1, 9:30-10:45

9:30-9:45 Rules-based governance, goals-based governance, and pledge-based governance - Oran Young, University of Santa Barbara

9:45-10:00 The principle of solidarity and the mitigation of the energy crisis - Luisa Marin, University of Insubria and European University Institute

10:00-10:15 Enforcement of international sustainability in climate policies via private law: the case for 'greenwash' laws - Michael Adams, University of New England

10:15-10:30 Eco-sustainable management of flood-prone territories and economic valorisation of resources - Chiara Biscarini and Antonio Agresta, University for Foreigners of Perugia

10:30-10:45 Q&A - 10:45-11:00 Break

PANEL 2, 11:00-12:30

11:00-11:15 The big problem with big data - Frank Baber, California State University

11:15-11:30 Private enforcement of corporate action (or inaction) on climate change? - Andreas Hösli, Walder Wyss Ltd and University of Zürich

11:30-11:45 What is 'sustainable development'? Being eco-conscious and implementing climate policy in the EU: from the past to the future - Alessandro Ginammi, University for Foreigners of Perugia

11:45-12:00 Comparing enforcement mechanisms for sustainability - Alfredo Ferrante, University of Pavia

12:00-12:15 Sustainable development goals and the rule of law - Noora Arajärvi, European University Institute

12:15-12:30 Q&A - 12:30-13:30 Break

PANEL 3, 13:30-15:00

13:30-13:45 The Antarctic Treaty system and climate change mitigation mechanisms - Patrizia Vigni, University of Siena

13:45-14:00 The role and importance of national instruments for future generations on sustainability - Marcel Szabó, Pázmány Péter University and Constitutional Court of Hungary

14:00-14:15 The EU policy on investment agreements - Ivana Damjanovic, University of Canberra and Australian National University

14:15-14:30 Participation of children in climate policy-making: primary rules or relief? - Laura Magi, University of Firenze

14:30-14:45 The strange case of nature that artificially helps itself - Valentino Santucci, University for Foreigners of Perugia

14:45-15:00 Q&A - 15:00-15:15 Break

PANEL 4, 15:15-16:50

15:15-15:30 The EU CBAM is WTO-compatible: will it also be effective? - Stefano Verde, University of Siena

15:30-15:45 Energy and sustainability: what is at stake in the Arctic and the Antarctic? A comparison - Marco Dordoni, University for Foreigners of Perugia

15:45-16:00 Outer space, environment and climate - Claudia Cinelli, University of Pisa

16:00-16:15 Political risk in the age of corporate social responsibility - Cecilia Sottillotta, University for Foreigners of Perugia

16:15-16:30 'If A is, B ought to be'? The EU and border carbon adjustments as countermeasures - Ottavio Quirico, University for Foreigners of Perugia, University of New England and Australian National University

16:30-16:45 Q&A - 16:45-16:50 Conclusions

Jean Monnet Project
Implementing Climate Policies

With the support of the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union

