International Exchange Program

Founded in 2004, the Institute of International Relations (IRI) of the University of São Paulo (USP) aims at promoting research, education and dissemination of knowledge in the field of International Relations; to strengthen academic links with national and foreign institutions; and to propagate the public understanding of world affairs. Our Institute is committed with a multidisciplinary approach regarding world affairs, bringing together expertise in the fields of Law, Political Science, Economics and History.

IRI’s academic staff is formed by professors with exclusive dedication to the Institute as well as political scientists, economists, historians, jurists, administrators and sociologists belonging to other USP departments and involved with research and teaching on International Relations.

Our Institute offers Bachelors, Masters and PhD degrees in International Relations. It also has a Post-Doctorate Program, aimed at PhD holders recently graduated in national and foreign institutions, and an International Researchers Program, focused on receiving international academics for a limited period of time.

| 2021 ACADEMIC YEAR | First semester: 12 April to 31 July
Winter vacation: 1 to 8 August
Second semester: 9 August to 7 January
Recess: 22 December to 2 January |
| NOMINATION AND APPLICATION DEADLINES | First semester (February to July): by 10 November
Second semester (August to December): by 10 May
Note: Master and PhD students who just want to carry out their research projects, but do not intend to attend courses, can apply throughout the year. |
| ACADEMIC SYSTEM | USP academic credit system is based on “In Class” credit and “Workload” credit. One “In Class” credit is equal to 15 hours in a given semester, while one “Workload” credit corresponds to 30 hours.
It is common to adopt 1 USP credit as equivalent to 1.5 or 2 ECTS credits, but each institution has autonomy to determine the final equivalence. |
| LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS | It is important for students to be acquainted with the Portuguese language because most of undergraduate and graduate classes offered at the University of São Paulo are taught in Portuguese.
For students who need to improve their skills in Portuguese, the Language Center of Faculty of Philosophy, Languages and Human Sciences (Centro de Línguas da FFLCH) offers Portuguese courses for foreigners (http://clinguas.fflch.usp.br). |
Candidates who intend to take courses at IRI-USP must prove that have knowledge of the Portuguese language at any level. The proof can be one of these documents:

- proficiency test of the Portuguese language or
- Portuguese course certificate of a language school or
- declaration from a teacher of the Portuguese language or
- course taken in Portuguese in the student's transcript issued by the home university or
- Recommendation letter written by a professor from the student's home university or
- letter written in Portuguese by the student, justifying how s/he has learned Portuguese or
- proof in case of student's parents or relatives are Brazilian or nationals whose language is Portuguese or
- other kind of document, which will be analyzed by IRI-USP.

Undergraduate exchange students are allowed to attend courses at IRI-USP for one or two semesters. This period can be further extended for no longer than two years in total if previously authorized by the home institution and by IRI-USP.

Many undergraduate courses have prerequisites. Therefore, applications will be analyzed according to students’ transcripts and study plans.

Study plans sent for the application process are used only as a guideline to analyze the relevance of the exchange. However, there is no guarantee that students will be accepted to take all the courses requested.

Graduate exchange students are allowed to attend courses at IRI-USP for three to twelve months. This period can be further extended up to twelve more months if previously authorized by the home institution and by IRI-USP.

At IRI-USP, students can obtain courses’ credits to validate at their home institution and/or carry out their research.

Once the application has been submitted and accepted by IRI-USP, we will send a message to the student by e-mail containing general information and the Acceptance Letter.

The professor’s Acceptance Letter may be an email message);
10. Recommendation Letter from the student's institution addressed to the USP professor responsible for supervising the student at USP.

DOCUMENTS STUDENTS MUST PROVIDE

1. Passport with the Temporary Student Visa or MERCOSUR Visa: Nationals coming to Brazil for a period of time may obtain a visa prior to travelling. Visit the Brazilian Ministry of Foreign Affairs website to get to know about the Brazilian visas.

In order to legally reside in Brazil during the period of intended study and to enroll in courses, foreign students must obtain the student visa (VITEM IV) or MERCOSUR visa from the Brazilian Embassy or Consulates.

It is not possible for foreign students to be formally enrolled at USP holding only a tourist visa for more than 90 days, nor is it possible to change the type of visa once the student is already in Brazil by another visa.

Students should note that visa requirements may change from time to time.

2. A copy of the International Health Insurance/Travel Insurance for the whole stay period, which should be purchased in the student’s home country prior to the arrival in Brazil.

3. It is optional, but foreigners can get a document called CPF - Cadastro de Pessoas Físicas at the Brazilian Embassy or Consulates in their home countries, which is especially useful such as for getting a student bus and subway card; opening a bank account; registering a mobile phone SIM card and buying at Brazilian online shopping websites.

BEFORE ARRIVING IN BRAZIL

1. Passport with the Temporary Student Visa or MERCOSUR Visa:
2. A copy of the International Health Insurance/Travel Insurance for the whole stay period, which should be purchased in the student’s home country prior to the arrival in Brazil.
3. It is optional, but foreigners can get a document called CPF - Cadastro de Pessoas Físicas at the Brazilian Embassy or Consulates in their home countries, which is especially useful such as for getting a student bus and subway card; opening a bank account; registering a mobile phone SIM card and buying at Brazilian online shopping websites.

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>We recommend undergraduate students to arrive in Brazil at least one week before classes begin at USP, and for graduate students, two weeks.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

IMPORTANT: Students must be present to sign up for classes. It is not possible for students to enroll in courses after the beginning of the classes.

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Once in Brazil, foreign students must visit IRI-USP International Office (CCNInt-IRI) to present their passports with the student visa (VITEM IV) or MERCOSUR visa.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

In order to stay legally in Brazil and to be enrolled at IRI-USP, it is necessary for students to have a valid foreigner’s ID card (RNM) issued by the Brazilian Federal Police. Please visit the Brazilian Federal Police website for further information.

Students have to afford their personal expenses in Brazil. However, there are restaurants at the University of São Paulo for the academic community and student cards that subsidize food and the acquisition of transportation tickets (which means that their costs for students are much lower than the regular ones charged outside the university). Student Accommodation at USP and USP’s funding assistance programs are not eligible for exchange students.
